General Explanations

The Karmic law which underpins this horoscope is based on a seemingly self-evident, but often ignored principle: Every cause has an effect, and conversely, every effect may be traced back to a specific cause in the past.

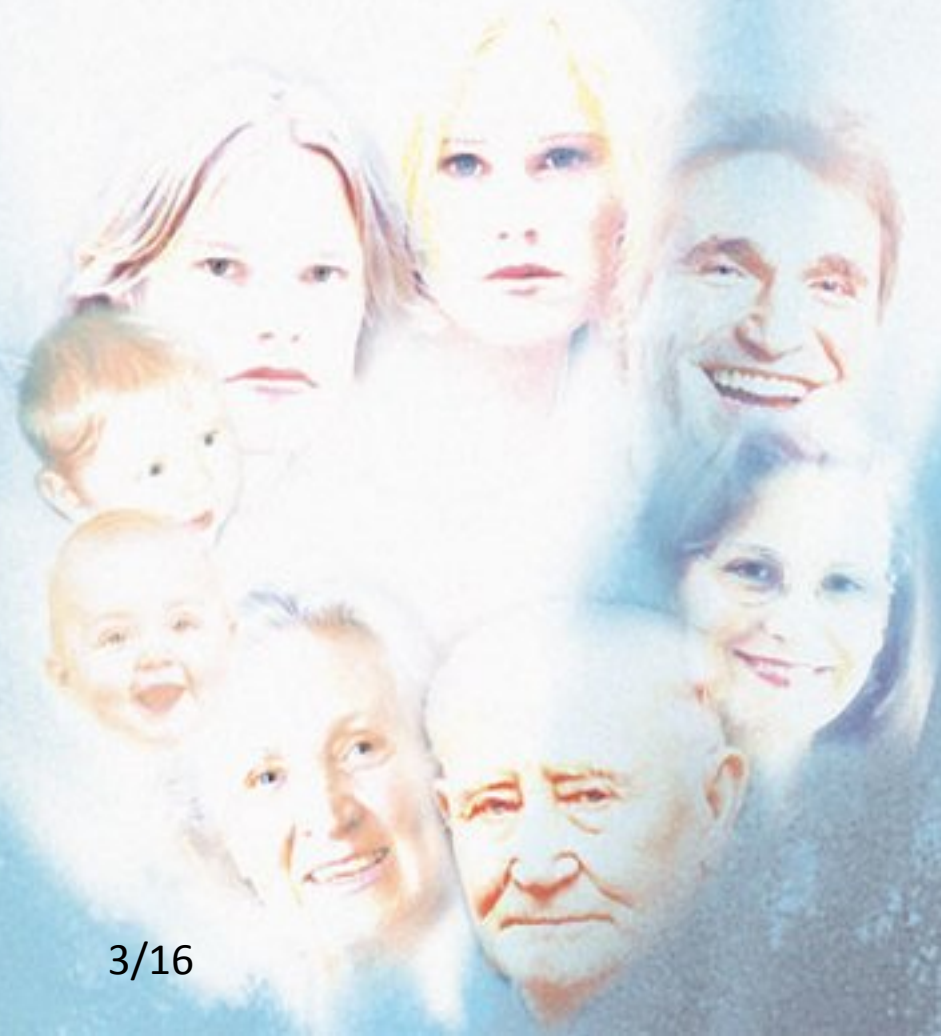

In numerous questions of everyday life, we accept this obvious relationship. But when it comes to understanding and probing our current existence, we all too often ignore this fundamental correlation. If you open yourself to the insights of the Karmic horoscope, you will recognize the red thread which shapes your current life and has made you into the person you are today. This is because the Karmic law establishes an impressive connection between your past, i.e. your earlier life, your present and your future.

Only if you are willing to bring together the concepts of space and time will you be able to fulfill your true destiny. Therefore, it is not by chance that your present existence manifests itself in the current form. Your present incarnation is rather the effect of earlier causes rooted in the past. The way you feel and think today, your behavioral patterns, intentions and plans may be traced back to experiences which you made at some point in the past, possibly a long time ago.

Heinrich, as soon as you have realized the continuity and perpetuity of your existence, you can embark on the path toward perfecting your soul. It is up to you alone to take advantage of the opportunities and chances given you, because whoever is aware of their past can create the preconditions for a happy and promising future in the real-life present. In this way, you establish new causes which will soon bring about the corresponding effects.

The Lunar Nodes

Knowing your two individual lunar nodes is extremely important for the further development of your personality. The descending or southerly lunar node reveals your past, summarizing the experiences and events with which you were confronted in your earlier incarnations and forms of existence. In this way, you will recognize the foundation of your present existence. You will understand why you exhibit certain modes of behavior in your current incarnation and why you nurture the corresponding wishes and notions.

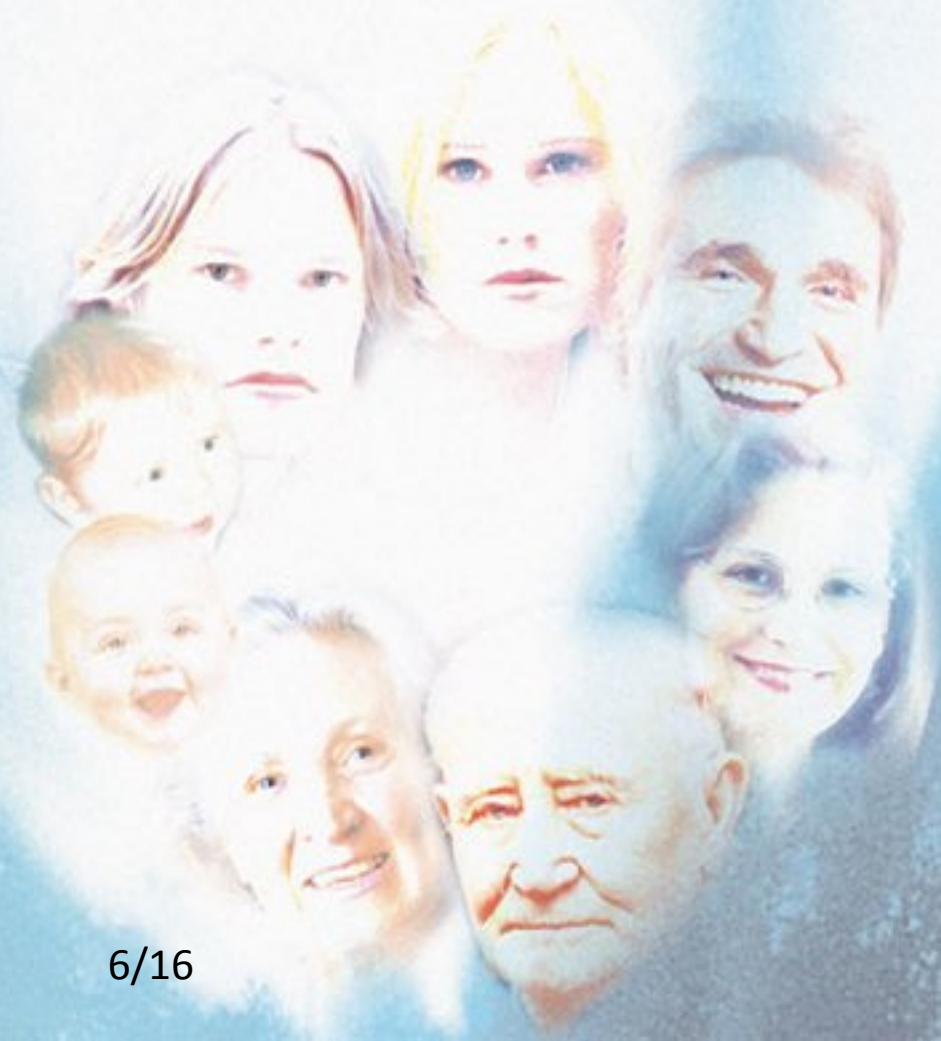

Heinrich, the ascending or northerly lunar node, which lies opposite the descending lunar node, is the symbol of the future. It points out the path which will lead you to a perfection of your soul. The knowledge and insights which the ascending lunar node imparts to you will help you to greet new experiences with confidence and courage. Knowing the objective of your forward progress will also prevent you from being hobbled or disheartened by apparent obstacles:

This is because you have recognized that your further development and future existence will chiefly depend on seizing the initiative and confronting the arising challenges. Just as the descending lunar node casts light on your past, so does the ascending lunar node allow you to establish the conditions for a promising future in the present. However, you must always be clear about one thing: Only if you manage to free yourself from the past in your thoughts and actions will you be able to achieve the northerly lunar node.

Ascending Lunar Node - Aquarius

Descending Lunar Node - Leo

Your descending lunar node indicates that, in your earlier forms of existence, you often exhibited a high-handed and decidedly egotistical behavior. Heinrich, you focused almost exclusive attention on your personal success and triumph, always striving to be at the center of attention. Only after you could be certain of the recognition and admiration of the people around you were you truly satisfied.

If you break away from the past habits and views in your current life to move closer to your ascending lunar node, you will first and foremost have to place value on a more productive conduct with your fellow human beings. This is because, in your earlier incarnations, you often only used the people in your environment so that you could realize your selfish goals and projects. In doing so, you differentiated very precisely between the people who could help you get ahead and those who could offer you nothing in this regard. On the path to your ascending lunar node, you will have to introduce fundamental changes with respect to your environment: Above all else, you should take care not to tactlessly and arrogantly pass judgment over other people and talk about their weaknesses right out in the public.

In your current incarnation, your task will rather be one of involving yourself in projects and plans which yield radical improvements for a large circle of people. This can only be done under the precondition that you do not preclude a sensible cooperation and succeed in overcoming your previous egocentricity.

Ascending Lunar Node in the 2nd House

Descending Lunar Node in 8th House

You will only manage to get closer to your ascending lunar node if you rid yourself of numerous behaviors and habits from your earlier forms of existence, which blocked the further development of your personality in the past. An inner uncertainty often made you act in a very withdrawn and negative manner in previous incarnations. It was very difficult if not impossible for your fellow human beings to get to know your true feelings and emotions.

In order to find the necessary inner calm and composure in your current life, it will be very important for you to think and act according to certain principles and standards so as to establish a stable foundation in this way. This is because you have often lacked this strong foundation in the past. Among other things, this shortcoming was responsible for you having sometimes encountered the people around you with an unsubstantiated mistrust and excessive restraint.

On the path toward your ascending lunar node, you will overcome your inner inhibitions by showing a willingness to open yourself up to your fellow human beings and speak honestly about your thoughts and views. By recognizing the value of a sensible and harmonious cooperation, you will be able to act in a more self-confident and relaxed manner. Heinrich, you will then discover that it makes little sense to go after certain goals with great determination and unbridled ambition. A more composed and balanced approach will be much more helpful in realizing your ideas.

In your current incarnation, proceeding in a cautious, deliberate and foresighted manner will facilitate the achievement of your ideas and objectives. By becoming aware of your opportunities and abilities, you will manage to realize the targeted projects and plans without any excessive and senseless effort. The past has taught you that overestimating your own strengths can only work to your disadvantage because this led to frustrations and an unpleasant inner dissatisfaction at best. In contrast, reasonable decisions at the right time and the willingness to wait for the best chance are extremely helpful.

Ascending Lunar Node Conjunction Neptune
Descending Lunar Node Opposition Neptune

In your present incarnation, you should not repeat the mistake from your past forms of existence by trying with all of your might to convince others of your own ideas and arguments. By exerting pressure on those around you in order to force a certain way of thinking on them, you will most likely achieve the opposite of what you intended. Therefore, give your fellow human beings the same intellectual freedom that you demand for yourself. If the theses which you advance are understandable and reasonable, you will not lack appreciation and approval anyway.

Ascending Lunar Node Opposition Saturn
Descending Lunar Node Conjunction Saturn

In your current incarnation, you should not let yourself be discouraged or rattled by apparently unfavorable developments. After a while, it will become apparent that the trials of the past did indeed have a purpose and safeguarded you against calamitous decisions. Do not let yourself be thrown off by presumed defeats or setbacks. The experience you gain from these situations will be a great help to you in the future. If you patiently and calmly wait for your chance, you can expect to achieve considerable successes.

Ascending Lunar

Descending

The opportunities now available to you in your current life are extremely promising: Your creative powers, critical mind and discernment will allow you to set the stage for far-reaching innovations and changes. Since you generally are excellent at supporting your position and arguments in a convincing fashion, you will not be able to complain about a lack of support in the realization of your innovative projects. Unanimous approval aside, however, you should subject your own ideas to a self-critical and honest examination from time to time to ensure timely prevention of undesirable trends.

Retrograde Planets

The apparent retrograde motion of some planets visible from the Earth is very much ignored in numerous astrological interpretations, even though this phenomenon can provide important information with regard to the development of your personality and your former past. Valuable insights relating to earlier incarnations may be derived based on the retrograde planet or planets applicable to you: Possible difficulties which confront you in your current life may be understood and correctly classified if you become aware of your past and resist the temptation of repeating the same mistakes again. In this way, Heinrich, you will manage to overcome existing inhibitions and optimally develop the abilities residing within you.

Saturn- Virgo

In your earlier incarnations, you sometimes exhibited a markedly cool and distant behavior in dealings with your fellow human beings, which almost inevitably had to act as a deterrent with respect to the people around you. In your current life, you should abandon this unfounded restraint and treat other people more openly and honestly.

Saturn in the 2nd House

In your previous forms of existence, Heinrich, you were unable to use your remarkable intellectual and intuitive abilities to a desirable extent because you relied on highly questionable methods in the analysis of existing conditions. By contrast, if you manage in your current life to win the trust of your fellow human beings by describing your insights and knowledge in convincing fashion, you can be a valuable adviser to the people around you.

Fulfillment

The stage of fulfillment denotes the phase in your life in which you experience the satisfied feeling that your deep wishes and desires are in accord with your actual existence. You intensively feel the inner harmony and satisfaction, which may be attributed to the fact that you were able to realize your ideas and concepts in a way appropriate to your individual needs. Heinrich, this feeling of happiness and joy can only come about if you have previously established the necessary prerequisites and conditions.

In other words: The fact that you have reached this state was not accidental or mysteriously predetermined by fate. Rather, there might have been some hurdles to overcome and rather difficult challenges to meet along the path to the stage of fulfillment.

Only after you have managed to keep sight of your goal despite all of the external influences will you receive the chance to enter this stage. You will then have an inner contentment because you have liberated yourself from external constraints and guidelines and now reflect the image which you had of yourself in your most pleasant dreams.

Point of Fullfilment - Scorpio

You will be able to develop your extraordinary creative and intuitive strengths the best if you try to look behind the facade of superficial appearance in order to recognize the true relationships of being in this way. You do not want to be satisfied with the existing facts and circumstances. Rather, you are interested in providing renewal and change.

On the path to your personal stage of fulfillment, you should let yourself be guided by your inner strength, which enables you to push forward to new shores and uncover unusual knowledge. In this sense, you can serve as an example to your fellow human beings because you stimulate the people around you to subject previous thinking habits and behaviors to critical review and be receptive to new experiences.

Point of Fullfillment in the 10th House

In the serious and persistent effort to translate your own ideas and goals into reality, you do not allow yourself to be thrown off by presumed difficulties or troubles. You have created a reliable and strong foundation for your thoughts and actions, and therefore are not tempted to make yourself dependent on external influences.

While you certainly do not mind if people acknowledge your accomplishments and admire your endeavors, you generally only accept such positive reactions if they are honest and sincere. By contrast, whoever tries to derive benefit through flattery will inevitably encounter your resistance. Heinrich, you will find your individual stage of fulfillment when you feel that your actions have made you an exemplary model to your fellow human beings.
